The Junior choir, organized two years ago with a membership of 41, is sponsored by the Wesleyan class of the Methodist church.

CLEVELAND POLICE
FIND STOLEN TAXI

Cleveland police late yesterday recovered the taxicab which was stolen early Friday morning by a gunman who abducted the driver Robert Johnson, 20, formerly of Lisbon, and later ejected him from the car on Route 30, between Minerva and Canton.

The taxi was found abandoned in Cleveland, according to a report received by the state highway patrol.

Johnson was forced to drive at the thug's command after the latter got into the cab at 1 a. m. Friday and asked to be taken to the railroad station. Johnson, with a gun at his back, drove to Lisbon and then to the other side of Minerva where he was robbed of $10 and left standing in the road.

CASUALTY STATION
DISMANTLED HERE

The Salem Defense council's casualty station exhibit at the Masonic temple was dismantled Friday afternoon and stored at the Elks home, which is to be the location of the No. 1 100-bed casualty station in the event of an air raid or other war disaster here.

The hospital setup, first of its type in the county, will be ready for instant use if the need arises. Plans are being formulated by officers of the Medical Preparedness committee of the Civilian Defense council to establish a warning signal to notify residents and defense workers in the event of a disaster.

At the sound of the alarm, officials point out, persons who are enrolling for donations of cots and blankets will have them ready at their doors, to be collected within a few minutes by truck drivers who also are signed as volunteer workers.

Citizens lending blankets and cots are urged to plainly mark them. Miss Hazel Linn, treasurer of the defense organization unit, estimated that 1,000 visitors saw the casualty station exhibit at the Masonic temple during the past week.

Boy Scouts of troop 56 of the American Legion post assisted in packing and storing the valuable equipment yesterday afternoon.

Observe Army Day

WASHINGTON, April 4.—A nation at war today started a three-day observance of Army day. Secretary of War Stimson, emphasizing the "particular significance" of the celebration this year, said it was "appropriate that the nation should pay tribute to the soldiers now engaged in the great struggle on many battle fronts."

In his message in advance of the April 6 observance, General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, asked for "complete confidence in the efficiency of the United States army."

BATTLE TEMPO
INCREASES ON SOVIET FRONT

Hitler's Armies Reported
Making Hard Counter-
Attacks

CLAIM RED LOSSES
HAVE BEEN LARGE

Preparations Apparently
Under Way For Nazi
Spring Drive

(By Associated Press)
Adolf Hitler's invasion armies, slowly recoiling after a winter of bloody setbacks, were reported making "very hard" counter-attacks on the Russian front today in evident preparation for the heralded Nazi spring offensive.

The German high command said activity had increased on the northern front, where a heavy battle was reported raging around long-besieged Leningrad, and acknowledged Soviet attacks on the Moscow and Ukraine fronts.

Claim Red Losses Heavy

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters, summarizing the first three months of 1942, declared the Russians had suffered "very heavy losses" in men and material "in an unsuccessful attempt to shatter the German eastern front and during German offensive operations."

Aside from unspecified high losses in Red army troops killed, the Nazi command claimed the Russians had lost 104,128 prisoners, 2,167 tanks, 2,519 guns and 2,720 planes from Jan. 1 to March 31.

A Berlin broadcast said two German infantry divisions alone had killed more than 16,700 Russians, captured 2,250 and destroyed or captured 60 tanks in combatting 472 Soviet attacks in the last few weeks.

Russian authorities credited guerrillas with the slaughter of 800 Germans and aggressive action against supply lines on the central front today and several more settlements were reported captured by the Red army.

Reds Make Claims

Irregulars operating in occupied territory of the Smolensk and Bryansk sectors, in addition to killing 800 Nazis, were said to have captured 22 Germans, destroyed 36 bridges, 300 munitions carts and three tanks and put some locomotives out of commission.

A regular army detachment slew more than 450 Germans in a day on the northwestern front, the Soviet information bureau said.

There was a lull in European aerial activity overnight.

A German aircraft dropped bombs in southeast England, causing only slight damage, the British announced.

The Vichy radio said Nazi dive-bombers set a 2,000-ton vessel afire yesterday in a raid on Kola bay, on which the Russian Arctic port of Murmansk is situated.

Getting Into Defense

CLEVELAND, April 4.—One of every six persons in Greater Cleveland held a defense job today as war production employment hit a new peak of 202,000, the chamber of commerce reported.

Dies In Corregidor

TIFFIN, April 4.—Mrs. Albert E. Zoller learned by radio of the death of her brother-in-law, Lieut. Col. Herbert Langley Harries, 55, in Corregidor hospital, Philippine islands. His widow was believed safe.

Lieutenant General Jonathan M. Wainwright reported the Japanese appeared to have moved some medium artillery from the south shore of Manila bay to the peninsula above the defense lines. Officials said these were probably of 155 millimeter and 240 millimeter caliber.

Canton Couples Decide To Take Things Easy; Cared
For 16 Youngsters At One Time

(By Associated Press)
CANTON, April 4.—After nearly 20 years as foster parents to more than 100 homeless Canton boys and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Brown have decided to take it easy.

Nineteen years ago Mr. and Mrs. Brown took their first ward when they read in the newspaper that a home was needed for a child taken into juvenile court.

"Since that time we always have had a home full of children," Mrs. Brown recounted. "At one time we had 16 and every one of them was a little roughneck—but we loved them."

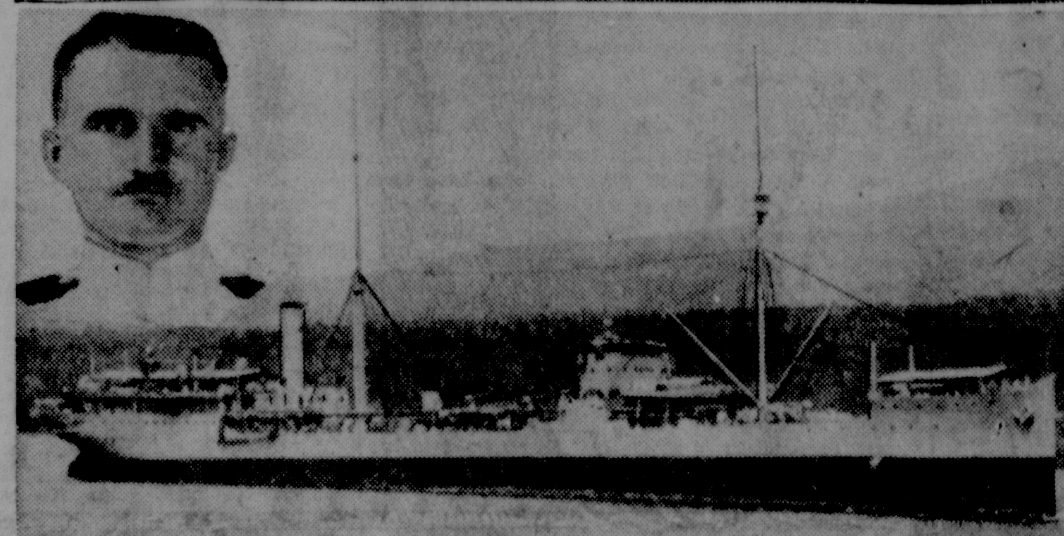

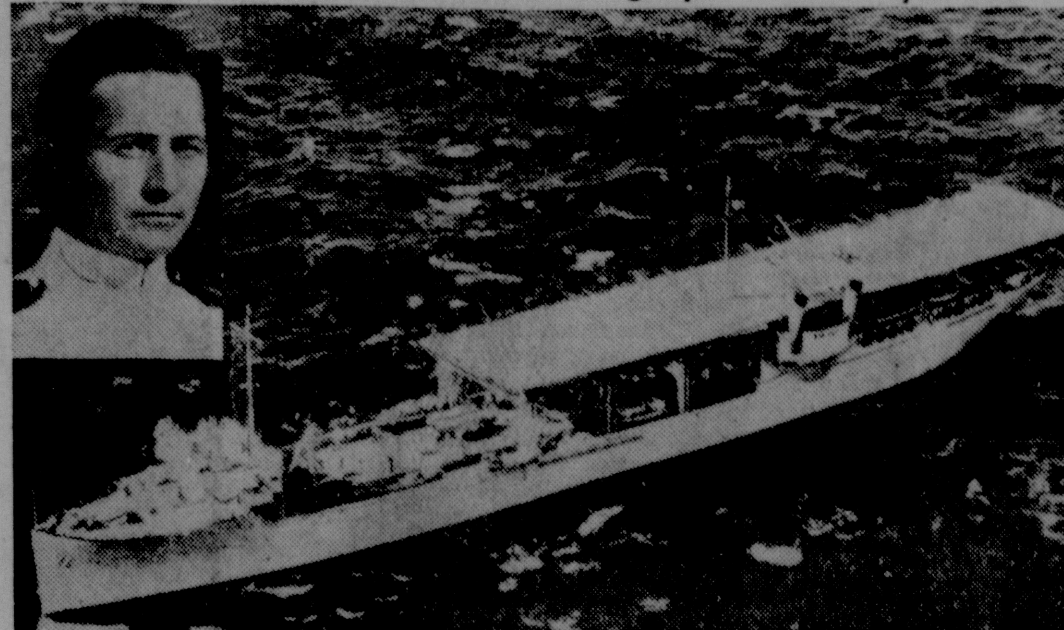

Their "family" grew tremendously through the years. Said Mrs. Brown: "I don't know how many children we have had. Certainly it is way over 100. It has been a lot of pleasure, but I feel that the time has come for us to take it easy now."

"The hardest thing I met in all of those 19 years was deciding to quit and having to tell the children they would have to go to another home."

"At the time we had three brothers who had been with us 11 years, and two other children who had lived with us eight years. We did decide to keep a girl who is in high school and she will be with us for the present."

Their retirement is a distinct loss to the children's bureau here. Miss Marguerite McCollum, executive secretary, said "They have always had such a rare understanding of children, and an ability to get along with them."

Japanese Bombers Sink U. S. Langley and Destroyer

The navy department announces that the U. S. aircraft tender Langley (top) and destroyer Peary (bottom) were sunk by Japanese aerial bombardment near northern Australia with a loss of more than 700 men. The Langley was the first aircraft carrier to see service with the U. S. navy. Her commander, Robert McConnell (top inset), survived the sinking. The commander of the Peary, John Bermingham (bottom inset), died.

Corregidor's Anti-Aircraft
Fire Is Still Effective

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 4.—The war department reported today that the anti-aircraft gunners of the Philippines' Corregidor fortress shot down two more heavy Japanese bombers, increasing their bag to 17 destroyed in less than two weeks.

Two other enemy raiders probably were damaged, a communique said.

A new type of bomb was dropped by the foe over Corregidor yesterday afternoon, the department said, explaining that they burst in the air with huge flames. No damage resulted from the attacks.

On the Bataan peninsula the Japanese laid down a heavy artillery fire for three hours, but the expected ground attack failed to develop.

Lieutenant General Jonathan M. Wainwright reported the Japanese appeared to have moved some medium artillery from the south shore of Manila bay to the peninsula above the defense lines. Officials said these were probably of 155 millimeter and 240 millimeter caliber.

Youngsters Dig Up
Prizes In Egg Hunt

The 10 golden eggs carefully hidden at Reilly stadium this morning didn't have much of a chance against the hundreds of eyes which peered into every nook and cranny at the stadium, once the signal was given for the start of the city's annual Easter egg hunt.

Parents looked on as their boys and girls, some of pre-school age, found egg after egg, colored in all hues of the rainbow.

But the golden eggs, which brought $1 in defense stamps to the finder, were uncovered by Billy Sidinger, Donald Doyle, Janice Ann Lieder, Jackie Dupal, Mary Catherine Jones, Freddie White, Albert Rowland, Marilan Steffel, Judith Ann Gregg and Arthur Uysell.

Credit for the success of the hunt goes to Joe Kelley, city recreational director and his aides. In all, 210 dozens of eggs were used.

MAY ABANDON SUGAR SET-UP

Final Decision On Rationing
Expected Within
Few Days

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 4.—The long-heralded sugar rationing program may be scrapped, the Herald Tribune said today in a dispatch from Washington.

The paper said the setup, tentatively to get under way with a nationwide registration May 4-7, might be dropped if estimates of current sugar supplies compiled by the war production board prevail over the insistence of the Office of Price Administration.

Approximately 1,000,000 tons more of Cuban sugar will be available for United States consumption than originally estimated, according to WPB information, because of a speedup in the production of industrial alcohol from grain and corn in the middle west.

The paper said the matter of transportation was the big difficulty in making the newly found surplus in Cuban sugar available for U. S. consumption. A final decision was predicted after weekend conferences in New York and Washington on the shipping situation.

REAL ESTATE TAX
DEADLINE NEARING

LISBON, April 4.—Property owners of Columbiana county today were reminded by County Treasurer Olen Dawson that only five days remain in the current real estate tax collection which will close Friday, April 10.

Dawson stated definitely that there will be no extension of the taxing period, as the state tax commission has already extended it to this late date out of necessity. Tax statements could not be prepared nor rates established until after the special tax levy was voted upon last Jan. 6, it was pointed out.

"The collection to date has been very fine," Dawson stated.

LOSS OF THREE U. S.
WARSHIPS LISTED

Aircraft Tender, Tanker

Java Action

By ROGER D. GREENE,
Associated Press War Editor.

Giant U. S. army flying fortress bombers, striking for the first time from bases in India, were credited officially today with leaving a Japanese cruiser and a transport in flames and probably damaging two other ships in the Bay of Bengal.

At the same time, Washington quarters painted a brighter picture for the Allies in the nearly four-months-old war with Japan, declaring that the tide of aerial supremacy in the southwest Pacific is believed to be turning and that navy shipbuilding is now far ahead of losses.

Since Pearl Harbor, the navy has launched 16 destroyers, a battleship, two cruisers, two aircraft tenders and a number of other craft. In addition, the official published list shows 17 battleships, 12 aircraft carriers and 35 cruisers under construction as of June 30, 1941.

Led By Gen. Breerton

A New Delhi communique, the first issued by United States air force headquarters in India, said Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Breerton, the commander, personally led the flying fortress attack on Japanese warships in the Bay of Bengal.

The communique said a squadron of the huge American bombers, deploying intense anti-aircraft fire, blasted the enemy's shipping at Port Blair in the Japanese-occupied Andaman island. Port Blair is 600 miles from Calcutta and 800 miles from Ceylon, the nearest likely bases for the attack.

"All our aircraft returned safely," the communique said.

Recapitulating the historic battle of Java, the navy in Washington announced the loss of three more United States warships and about

YANKS CAN FIGHT
DIRTY, IF NEED BE

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 4.—The navy has an answer to jujitsu and it's anything but a sporting proposition.

It's a modified mixture of murder and mephem, concocted of the bloodiest aspects of barroom and alley fighting, barred wrestling holds and foul boxing blows. Naval officers say their new training for "rough and tumble" fighting meets Secretary Frank Knox's request for a navy that can fight dirty if it has to.

Commander L. S. Perry, director of the U. S. naval academy's physical training program, concedes that much of the navy's new technique stems from an intensive study of Japan's jujitsu tactics. Just the same, he hastens to add, any Japanese attempting tactics on an academy trained officer may find himself cornering a new form of hari kari.

"We are fighting a treacherous enemy in the Pacific," said Commander Perry. "We've got to fight just as foul as he does if we want to win."

EASTER WITHOUT SHAME

There is an overtone of bitterness about Easter in wartime. Like the other great Christian festival, Christmas, Easter seems to deserve peace for its proper observance.

But only the unthinking can be persuaded to go very far with their bitterness. To those of the understanding hearts, Easter this year holds more than any Easter has held for many years.

Now more than in most years it again is the day of promise attainable by faith. Christian principles are made more admirable by contrast with their denial. It is plain once more what was given to mankind by the Redeemer. Before He came, the same things now regarded with shame were the accepted order of existence.

Today, the Christian nations are fighting for the right to quit fighting. Their enemies are fighting for the right to keep on fighting till they have conquered what they cannot control by any other means. That much has been accomplished by the promise of Easter—and it is a great deal.

HOW'S THAT AGAIN?

Sympathy hereby is extended to the war production board. It is going to need a lot of it after one or two more muffs like its interpretation that even home-made cuffs on trousers are banned.

Specifically, what does the board propose to do about Abner Highwater, who wears his pant legs up to here, with plenty of sock showing? Abner also prefers cuffs. So what does he do?

He steps into the store and buys a pair of pants. The salesman urges Abner to try on the pants for fit. He orders them made up without cuffs, normal length. Abner takes them home, gets out his needle and thread and builds himself what is known as a French cuff, which doesn't take much material. No one has lost a thing, and Abner has cuffs on his pants. Just let someone try to get harsh with him and he's going to fight the case all the way to the supreme court.

War or no war, this is still the United States—a country where Abner Highwater is entitled to as much as the next fellow for his money and can do with it thereafter what he pleases, even if it means showing his bare knees.

TAXPAYERS STILL GET STUCK

Newest wrinkle on the bonus for working more than 40 hours a week is discovery that some manufacturers would rather pay the bonus than face the prospect of raising pay scales if the bonus were to be abandoned. This is supposed to take the wind out of the sails of everybody claiming there's something fishy about paying time and a half for so much war work.

The point, of course, to the whole squabble is this: Why should taxpayers, including a lot of those drawing time and a half when they put in more than 40 hours during what is supposed to be a national emergency, be expected to take it in the neck without complaining? Most of them, it so happens, are getting exactly what they've been getting—and in a lot of cases less. Meanwhile prices are rising, taxes are rising and their hackles are rising.

They're getting squeezed hard, and one of the reasons is that their government has let things get into a pickle where the only way it can get war material produced is to pay extra and collect the surplus from taxpayers. It's their headache. Organized labor, organized employers and organized bureaucrats are taking care of themselves all right, but heaven help the little people who haven't anybody to take their part. They're the ones who are getting stuck.

THE WEAR-DOWN THEORY OF SEA FIGHTING

That overworked phrase, war of attrition, is made meaningful by the government's latest report on the anti-submarine campaign. At least 28 subs have been sunk, which is superficially encouraging. But meanwhile the U-boat campaign to blockade United States shipping has been too successful to be withstood; in the long run, the U-boats would win, if things continued to go as they are going now.

The classic theory of anti-submarine warfare is derived from British experience in World War I. It calls for a rate of shipbuilding sufficient to replace vessels sunk, accompanied by an increasingly effectual counter-offensive to swing the balance away from the submarine's initial advantage in any blockade. In other words, shipbuilding keeps the war of attrition from being lost, while the counter-offensive wins it.

Students of Germany's submarine warfare in the other war hold that it lost its potency when U-boat crews began to realize that the odds were overwhelmingly against them. Even though still capable of inflicting enormous damage, their morale was shattered; their duty bore too much resemblance to a suicide mission. Something like this must happen again before the United States can claim mastery of the seas.

Americans are warned that the U-boat campaign has not yet reached the height of its intensity. When it does, the present rate of sinking, now approximating two ships a day, may go much higher. It is encouraging, meanwhile, to note that the government seems to have abandoned what threatened to be a policy of laying too much stress on enemy losses, at the expense of under-rating the seriousness of the whole situation.

The Axis submarine blockade is hitting the United States hard where it hurts most—shipping. It will get worse. Something like the fateful April of 1917, when Germany threatened to win the war on the seas with its submarine campaign, may be expected.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, April 5

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a very interesting and prosperous one, with the promise of recognition, preferment, promotion or other testimonies of favoritism from superiors, employers or those in high places and influence. There may be some measure of public esteem and approbation as well. The intellectual faculties may be particularly under imaginative or intuitive stimulus.

Those whose birthday it is should have a year in which their intellectual faculties and energies may react to some strange, unique or psychological urges which will result in fine creative expression or give spur and vision to unusual creative talents.

A child born on this day should have much talent of an unusual, profound or distinctive quality, which may enlist public acclaim and reward, as well as promotion, favors or preferment from superiors or those in authority.

For Monday, April 6

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is a complicated, intriguing and difficult one to delineate, since it has most peculiar and conflicting situations which may stamper the energies, initiative and high ambitions. At the same time there is an aspect in the social, affectional and domestic scene which may have the solution to illusive and vague circumstances demanding alertness and straightforward dealings. Shun extravagances.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the eve of a year of complication and intrigue, which may call for astute, vigilant and sagacious handling. Intrigue and duplicity menace, while at the same time there may be benefits from hidden sources, perhaps of a social, domestic or sentimental nature. Shun extravagance, keep poised and watchful.

A child born on this day should be genial, gracious and hospitable, impulsive and headstrong. It may suffer loss and defeat through imposition, extravagance, fraud and theft.

Our memory goes back to the time, a long time ago, when we lived in a small town and knew all the lars by their first name—but we never called anybody a liar, fearing that if he wasn't then we'd be a liar ourselves.

VIRUS KNOWN AS SUMMER PINK EYE

Clendening Describes Disease Started In Hawaii

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
IN HAWAII last summer a peculiar form of conjunctivitis appeared. It wasn't very serious, except in the large numbers of people affected. It might be rated as a little worse than a bad cold, but an attack lasted two or three weeks and everyone who caught it complained more than if he had a bad cold, because he didn't want to go around with red, streaming eyes and granular lids.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

In October it began to appear in California and spread rapidly, reaching its peak incidence in December. To show how widespread it became, it was estimated that as many as two per cent of all the employees in some ship-building plants were affected. Some special groups of workers who had to put a special strain on the eyes, such as welders, were more frequently affected than others.

Ordinary Pink Eye

Conjunctivitis, or ordinary pink eye, is known to be contagious, and a particular group of germs is in most cases responsible and can be cultured from the secretions. But in these cases, although they were thoroughly examined by bacteriologists, no germs of any kind were found and they are now known as cases of epidemic virus conjunctivitis.

I saw a few cases and can testify that it is quite an uncomfortable condition. At first there is pain, excessive tearing and the feeling that a granular or dusty body or other foreign substance is in the eye. The lids are greatly swollen, although there is no actual pus discharge—an often happens in ordinary pink eye.

The whites of the eyes are intensely reddened and as a nearly regular thing there are small hemorrhages beneath the coats of the whites of the eyes. Reports of "how you caught it" were rife and varied.

One theory which always comes up in such cases was that it was due to swimming in pools.

Method of Spread

The real method of spread was probably plain contamination with soiled linen, and hands. One person with a mild case rubs his eyes, handles a tool, puts it down, then another person picks it up and then rubs his eyes. The welder or worker at the brightly lighted machine didn't strain his eyes, but the light made his eyes itch and he rubbed them more than somebody else.

This is a lesson that can be applied to all cases of pink eye, because they all tend to occur in epidemic form. It is astonishing how many cross contacts people can make, such as pupils in a school-room, workers in an office or a family within the confines of the domestic walls.

There is a lesson also that applies to all forms of conjunctivitis in the reports of the effects of treatment. Most of these cases are treated with the mild organic silver preparations, such as argyrol.

Other mild antiseptic solutions, such as the zinc preparations, can be used. Personally, I favor a quinine bisulphate ointment squeezed in the eye from an ophthalmic tube. Sometimes any one of these preparations causes more irritation and does more harm than good. Cold compresses perhaps give more real relief than any other thing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. B. S.: "Is it true that a person can pick up a pneumonia germ and carry it around for eleven or twelve months and then have the germ develop into a bad case of pneumonia?"

Answer: Not enough is known about the immunity reactions of the carriers of pneumonia germs to answer this question. It is true that a great many people carry pneumonia germs in their mouths; whether they develop pneumonia from these same germs or from new ones they pick up has not been answered by bacteriologists.

J. B. E.: "1. Would a cup of pure coffee hurt a person with any form of heart trouble? 2. What kind of salt can a person with high blood pressure, kidney trouble and heart trouble use? 3. Can a person with kidney trouble drink grape juice? 4. Which is the most acid, a red or pink tomato?"

Answer: 1. Coffee will not hurt a person with any kind of heart trouble. 2. Salt, in moderation, is generally allowed people with high blood pressure and most forms of heart and kidney disease. 3. Grape juice is not harmful to a person with kidney disease. 4. Neither red nor pink tomatoes are acid at all. Their ultimate reaction in the body is alkaline.

E. T.: "Will the milk from coconuts cure a stomach ulcer? I am on a coconut diet—will it do me any harm?"

Answer: Coconut milk is likely to irritate gastric ulcer because of its sweetness. I never heard of a person's being on a coconut diet and I do not know whether it will do you any harm or not.

BOWS DOT SPRING ENSEMBLES FROM TOP TO TOE

Just as we have reconciled ourselves to the uniform, severely simple, almost masculine clothes for women, fashion does a complete turnabout and bows dot the spring ensembles from head to toe. They come on hats, waists, shoes and most important and very new—at the neckline. Notice how the bows in the above pictures soften the severity of the most tailored suits. With the slacks suit, pictured left, is worn a striped rayon bow in bright colors, with long ends especially shaped to suit the jacket or coat cut. The bow worn with the navy suit, top right, is white with navy polka dots. It is tied pussy-cat fashion under the chin, and goes well with the little white hat with navy veil. The plaid bow in the last picture will add a dressy note to any outfit. It is crisp and colorful and goes well with any colors or fabrics.

Norman Kuntz announced yesterday that the 65-year-old veteran of 19 years service was being reappointed for the next school year.

Big Job, Little Pay

MARSHFIELD, Mo.—Mayor Joe Robertson had his fill of political life after eight terms. "I have had a little trouble making ends meet," said the mayor in declining a ninth term. His salary has been $1 a year.

MacARTHUR ASKS DIVINE GUIDANCE

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 4.—In an Easter message, General Douglas MacArthur today asked divine guidance for his leadership in the forthcoming struggle in the southwest Pacific.

The Allied commander, meanwhile, continued conferences with Australian and American civil and military leaders in his vast organization task. He planned to work Easter.

MacArthur, an episcopalian, native of Little Rock, Arkansas, received this message from W. R. Witell, director of Little Rock's Christ church:

"The church of your baptism sends Easter greetings and an expression of faith and loving prayer in you."

MacArthur replied: "At the altar where I first joined the sanctuary of God, I ask that you seek divine guidance for me in the great struggle that looms ahead."

A headquarters spokesman disclosed that President Manuel Quezon, soon after arriving in Australia from the Philippines, sent his people a message of inspiration and hope for broadcast through the army's Voice of Freedom radio station which blankets the Philippines.

MAHONING POMONA TO MEET APRIL 17

When Goshen grange met Friday evening, plans were laid for entertaining Mahoning county Pomona grange on April 17. Mrs. Edward Miller, Pomona lecturer, will be in charge of the program.

At Friday evening's meeting one application for membership was received, and two persons received the first and second degrees. Donald Foot was elected secretary in place of Mrs. L. E. Beery, resigned. The Goshen Juvenile grange members, in charge of the matron, Mrs. Roy Capel, had the program as follows: Welcome, Kenwood Gray; greeting, Barbara Martig; recitations, Richard Daugherty, Bill Bentley, Eldon Bentley, Barbara Martig; song, Albert and Janet Capel; solo, Naomi Capel; "Joy," Bartholomew sisters; "Such a Happy Time," Ruth sisters reading, Mrs. Roy Capel. Easter baskets were given each juvenile, and games were enjoyed.

PLUMBING PRICES ARE FROZEN BY OPA

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Adopting a new technique to prevent speculative price increases, the Office of Price Administration froze prices of all types of plumbing fixtures today, preliminary to a War Production Board order curtailing their production. The temporary ceiling, effective Tuesday, pegs prices at levels in effect March 30. Manufacturers', wholesale and retail prices were affected, but prices charged by plumbers who actually install the fixtures were excluded. Broader in scope than the pending WPB plumbing order, the OPA action blankets all types, kinds, sizes, shapes and colors of plumbing fixtures, whether made of china, porcelain or metal. The production curtailment is expected to require makers of plumbing fixtures to limit output of items containing critical materials.

State To Expand Potato Acreage

COLUMBUS—State-owned farms will ignore Agricultural Adjustment administration potato acreage quotas this year and try to better the 1941 crop this year by 10 per cent. State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood declared today. Although county AAA committees have asked him to plant fewer acres in potatoes, Sherwood said he would follow the War Production board's wishes instead and increase acreage from 576 to 625 so state institutions would have to buy fewer potatoes for their own use. He said that, although nine state institution farms raised 147,000 bushels in 1941, they had to buy 53,000 bushels on which freight charges alone amounted to $16,000.

Fully Justified, Is View "In an attempt to co-operate with the WPB, we cannot urge you too strongly to expand these activities to the limit," additional acreage in food and forage crops is being planned for this year, Sherwood said.

The attempted limitations of the AAA would thwart this effort," he added. "We believe that we are fully justified, therefore, in complying with the general program of increased production and propose to ignore the attempt of county-located units of the AAA in curtailing production on farms located in individual counties, and to carry on the centralized program of increased production, in spite of the interference, both for the benefit of the war and for the taxpayers of Ohio."

Dale C. Williams, acting chairman of the Ohio AAA committee, said that the committee had asked for a state-wide potato acreage equal or slightly larger than last year. "However, the triple-A feels that utilization of our land and resources to produce potatoes or any other commodity in excess of actual needs is wasteful and detrimental to the best interests of the nation at this time," Williams said. "If the state of Ohio wishes to give its farms permission to grow potatoes without heed to actual needs, the triple-A will not and cannot compel it to do otherwise," he added.

Sherwood said state farms had not and would not receive AAA benefit payments for planting within their allotted acreages under the AAA program but would make state institutions as self-supporting as possible through food production. None of such produce is placed on the market, he said.

MATA HARI'S Daughter

By MAURICE DEKOBRA and LEYLA GEORGIE

SYNOPSIS

Sir John Sanderson, British Intelligence chief, has just learned that Mara, his ace woman agent, has betrayed important secrets to the elusive Ajax, head of the Nazi spies in England. His aide, Capt. Hugh Kenley, also reported that a parachutist has landed near London and vanished in an unknown girl's car. Sir John realized that Mara's treason makes his official position desperate. He must resign or, as he gripped his pistol, a familiar voice outside his residential office interrupted. He slipped the weapon back into a drawer when greeting his ward, beautiful Brinda Duncan, who pleads with him for war service as a spy. He is strongly opposed to this, but evades the issue. Suddenly two shots are heard from the street, and Orderly Hunt announces that Captain Kenley had been murdered. Agent Donovan, on guard duty, describes the fugitive killer as "a big fellow with a limp" who "got out of Miss Brinda's car." . . . Dr. MacDonald is treating the dying man, whom Sir John is trying to question. Kenley, who managed to whisper a few words . . . Brinda told Sir John how she had given a lift to "a poor fellow with a sprained ankle . . . He looked and talked like an Englishman." She is directed to try and "pick him out" of an official "spy gallery" later. Brinda then receives a mysterious phone warning: "What happened to Mara? . . . Silence, or—death."

CHAPTER FIVE

Should she ask Sir John what the mysterious caller had suggested? Familiar with her guardian's moods since childhood, she realized he had been in deep distress when she entered his study that evening—even before his aide's murder. No, she wouldn't chance adding to his burden—not at this time, when it was so heavy. Later, perhaps, depending on future developments; or perhaps, never.

Toward the mysterious and menacing caller, she felt mingled anger and fear. How had he obtained the housekeeper number, theoretically known only to the servants, her father, John, and a few trusted tradespeople? Perhaps, the call could be traced . . . She flashed the operator. . . . Waited . . . In vain. "Sorry, Madam, you should have called sooner. We cannot trace the party now."

She turned away, walked slowly to her bedroom. She wished there were someone she could consult—someone besides Sir John. Even Aunt Vick, as she and Sir John both called the Hon. Victoria Weatherhead, who ordinarily formed the third member of the Sanderson ménage. But Aunt Vick—really Sir John's aunt, not Brinda's—was nursing her fall asthma on the Riviera. Besides, Brinda realized with a faint sympathetic smile, Aunt Vick wouldn't be of much help. Something had stopped in Aunt Vick when, first her husband, then her two sons, were killed in the World war. She was still a little confused about the present conflict and, before leaving for the Riviera the previous week, had expressed the anachronistic hope that "the Kaiser wouldn't get within gun-range of Paris so soon this time . . ."

Entering her room, Brinda switched on a dim blue light beside her dressing-table, so that she would not have to close the black-out curtains. Then she opened the window, and looked out over the sleeping city. Would London never be light again? Must life be circumscribed forever by darkness and apprehension? She wished—as she had wished once or twice before since war was declared—that she could be a man; not forever, perhaps, but a man long enough to be in the midst of action; pacing the bridge of a destroyer or hurtling through the sky in a combat plane. How much better to seek danger, than to sit and wait for it. After all, it was the women who had the hard part in this war.

Far overhead, planes droned dimly. A searchlight stabbed the sky. Toward Croydon, anti-aircraft guns barked furiously. A bombing raid at this time? Impossible! The Nazis would never dare to bomb London! Yet it was too dark, too overcast, for observation planes to be up. What then? She shivered at the picture that flashed into her mind . . . A picture of parachutes dropping from that unseen plane, and drifting down, down, down into the quiet English night.

It was all wrong. It was like some nightmare of her childhood. In India, when she would wake frightened in the arms of her native nurse, tense with a sense of the stalking death in the encircling jungle . . .

What happened to Mara? Shame, disgrace . . . death . . . The menacing words—the evil, caressing voice! She could still hear it as she hurried her undressing, in order to be quickly in bed and, as soon as might be, asleep.

Yet, oppressed as she was with a sense of almost tangible peril, it did not occur once to Brinda to heed the anonymous warning.

"You can look for your suspects together," Sir John told Brinda and Lieutenant Malden.

Like most old army men, Sir John was an early riser. In spite of the strenuous events of the night, he was up at six, had finished his morning walk in the park at eight, and, thirty minutes later, was at his desk in the Intelligence Office. Kenley had been well-liked, and his tragic death had cast a shadow over the office.

As Brinda swept through the long, hall-like ante-room leading to Sir John's private office, whole platoons of male eyes popped hopefully to attention.

It was the first time that Sir John made an exception to his rule and permitted her to come to the office. She should have been thrilled with delight, but the motive of her visit was too serious. For this one day she would belong to the Secret Service, work as one of them, searching in the files in order to see whether the mysterious parachute spy and murderer could be identified.

Brinda had only to look at her guardian to know that he was still laboring under deep anxiety.

"One moment, my dear," he scrawled his signature on a document. "Sorry to have to drag you into this, but we can't overlook any possibilities." He arose. "Come along."

Brinda followed him into a vault-like room, guarded by a heavy iron door.

"No news of the —?" She hesitated on the word.

"The murderer? None. I'm afraid we're stumped—unless you can find him here." He indicated long rows of filing cases. "These, Brinda, contain photographs or descriptions of probably ninety per cent of England's most dangerous enemies. Some of them, I am sorry to say, are Englishmen. But I don't doubt your man's a German, so we can eliminate about half the lot. Now, if you will tell me—as well as you can—what he looked like—"

Brinda complied, searching her memory for every detail of her meeting with the parachute spy. When she had finished, Sir John nodded gravely.

"Not bad at all. About five feet, ten, lithe, blonde, muscular weight around 190, age between thirty and thirty-five . . . that narrows our search considerably." He ran his fingers down the files, drew one out. "Sit down, child. We'll start with photographs—just on a chance."

One by one, a succession of pictures passed before Brinda's questioning eyes . . . Young men and old. . . . Girls and wrinkled crosses . . . But not the man whom she had driven from Watford into London.

Brinda had been working for over an hour when Lieutenant-Commander Richard Malden from the Royal Navy was announced to Sir John. The Colonel knew the brilliant young radio engineer of the fleet, by reputation and asked him to come in immediately.

"Sir," started Malden. "I suppose you know about my assignment in the scientific laboratories of Camberwell."

"I know all about it."

BRITISH-ITALIAN SWAP IS ARRANGED

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, April 4.—The foreign office announced today that an exchange of sick and wounded British and Italian prisoners of war—on an "all or none" basis—will begin shortly at Izmir, also known as Smyrna, a western Turkey port. Negotiations conducted through a third country—identified only as "a protecting power"—have set in motion the machinery for the exchange, the foreign office said. A British spokesman said the Italians to be repatriated "will be far more numerous" than the British from "the inevitable fact that the British empire holds far more prisoners than Italy."

The ratio of Italian to British prisoners is believed to be not less than five to one, it was said. The exchange will be made from hospital ships and it has been suggested that each side send one ship to Izmir to make the swap.

(The British-Italian plan is the second effort to repatriate sick and wounded prisoners since the start of this war. A previous attempt negotiated between Great Britain and Germany failed last October because, the British said, the Germans declined to release entire prisoner groups, irrespective of their numbers.)

The Germans asked for a "prisoner for prisoner" exchange which the British refused. The British war secretary, H. D. R. Margesson, told the house of commons the British had intended to release about 150 Germans for 1,200 Britons held in reich territory.)

CONCORD, N. H.—The famed St. Paul's School here is believed to have introduced inter-scholastic hockey to the United States. Vacationing undergraduates discovered the game being played in Canada and brought it to the student body 60 years ago.

Where British Staged Daring Nazi Dock Raid

View at St. Nazaire at time Normandie was being built

Britain has given a heroes' welcome to the commandos, sailors and airmen who staged that daring, successful raid on St. Nazaire, France, Nazi submarine base. The British used a former American destroyer, fitted out as a time-bomb, to blow up the docks at St. Nazaire. It was believed that the wrecking of the dock facilities at St. Nazaire would limit German sub activities in the North Atlantic.

"Death" Puzzles

Subhas Chandra Bose

Here is Subhas Chandra Bose, radical Indian Nationalist leader, whose reported death in a Japanese airplane crash causes considerable speculation. While the story of his death was accepted in India, Axis agencies emphatically denied reports of his death, claiming Bose was making an anti-British speech at the time of the plane crash. The accident report stated Bose was en route to Tokyo for a conference on "Indian independence," which was being organized to compete with Sir Stafford Cripps' promises of Indian freedom, at the time he was killed.

More than 106,000 Americans have contributed blood at the 18 Red Cross donor centers during the past year.

Salem people will have a similar opportunity when the Red Cross mobile blood donor unit comes to Salem April 30 and May 1. Complete details as to location, etc., will be announced before the unit arrives.

LEASE DRUGS FIVE BOWS TO NATIONAL FURNITURE, 25-22

Shears Leads Salem Five In Tourney Loss At East Liverpool

The Salem Lease Drugs dropped a hard fought battle to the National Furniture of East Liverpool, 25-22, in their first game of the annual Tri-state senior basketball held at the East Liverpool High gym last night. The Pottery City team, composed of Washington & Jefferson university varsity and freshman stars, had the advantage in height under the basket with the presence of two boys who topped six feet six inches.

Undaunted by this advantage, the local crew kept the Pennsylvanians on their toes throughout the course of the game as they exhibited smooth floor work at all times. They started fast but trailed 7-6 at the end of the first period. Kenny Shears, Ray McGaffick and Bill Schaeffer tallied two pointers for the Salem team in the opening frame. The Furniture boosted their one point edge to 12-10 just as the half ended.

In the second half, the Lease quieted started fast and took a lead with three fast buckets, two of them by Kenny Shears. After leading by 18-13, the height advantage sported by the W. & J. five began to tell and within a few minutes the score was all tied up. The Liverpool-backed team took a slight lead just as the quarter ended.

In the last period, the National Furniture quintet ran the score to 23-18 and the locals put on another spurt to come within one point of tying the count as Kenny Shears and Les Knepp tallied. With just a few seconds to play, an East Liverpool player worked himself loose under the bucket to chalk up the basket which clinched the game for the National Furniture.

Kenny Shears was the spearhead of the Salem offense as he tallied 10 points while the whole team exhibited a fine brand of ball on the defense except under the hoop where the Ceramic City crew sported a big advantage.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Is the Stanley Cup hockey series that begins tonight the last for the duration? Answer: No. With most of the young players going into the services this summer, there's sure to be tough sledding ahead, but our idea is that they'll be able to patch up the big league teams with exempt players, veterans and minor leaguers, to keep going even if the minors do have to fold. Other sports likely will keep going in the same way—the big leagues at the top and sandlot and industrial teams at the bottom and not much in between.

BOWLING

Meissners held on to their big lead in the Federal league as they won a forfeit match from the K. of C. on the temple alleys last night. Sheens, presently in second place, stayed there as they chalked up a three-game win over the cellar-dwelling Beelers.

In other matches the Sanitary Shippers shut out the Eagles and the Sanitary Foremen copped two from Brownies.

In the only high scores of the evening, Arnold of the Eagles anchored his series with a 224 to give him a 595 total while Johnny Brantsch fired a 214.

The Colonial Finance keggers were idle last night as the rest of the Grate Ladies' league matches came off on schedule at the Grate alleys. The pace-setting Financiers bolstered their lead last night although they were inactive. Coys tripped up the Salem China twice while the third-place Haldis suffered a three-game loss to Hi-Lo.

Kaufmans, who have been waging a great battle with Schwartz's for fourth place got a fine chance to settle it last night and did as they handed the Schwartz outfit a three-game beating. The Eagles No. 1 added three wins to their total as they shut out the Trades Class. In another match Endres-Cross copped a pair from Eagles No. 2.

BARRON LEADS IN ASHEVILLE OPEN
ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 4.—Jimmy Demaret, the one time golden boy of golf, is heading for the high road of success again today. Overlooked by the galleries in the first two rounds of the Asheville open, he was only three shots off the pace.

Leading the field was Herman Barrow, of White Plains, N. Y., at 137. Lawson Little was second at 139. Demaret was bracketed with defending champion Ben Hogan and Henry Picard at 140 as the field swung into the third 18-hole round. Herman Keiser of Akron had 142.

Bowling Congress Begins
CHICAGO, April 4.—Telegraph wires today began ticking off the scores that will determine the first national high school bowling championships. From coast to coast some 1,500 prep keggers did their rolling in their home cities today and then hurried to wire the results to Chicago headquarters of the American high school bowling congress.

ELIS FAVORITE IN AAU SWIM MEET
NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 4.—If Yale's mighty swimming forces should miss winning the National A. A. U. team championship today, it'll be startling news.

The powerful Elis have mopped up everything so far, including the eastern and national collegiates. They need only the A. A. U. own to climax one of the greatest aquatic campaigns in modern history. And that title was all but wrapped up.

As the three-day championships entered the final phase, Yale's few points were overwhelming. Nearest were Princeton, 6, and Mercersburg Academy, 5.

MERMAIDS SET TO SETTLE OLD FEUD AT OHIO AAU MEET

Helen Perry, Betty Bemis To Race Each Other for Fourth Time

CLEVELAND, April 4.—In what may be her last amateur appearance here, Helen Perry, Cleveland's national backstroke queen, will be out to settle a feud with Betty Bemis of Indianapolis in the 150-yard national junior women's individual medley race tonight.

The girls will swim in the national junior and northeastern Ohio senior A. A. U. aquatic championships which will decide two women's and one men's junior championship title and nine district A. A. U. titles.

It will be the fourth time the two have raced each other. In 1939 Miss Bemis, present national senior outdoor 400-meter free style champion, defeated Miss Perry for the national junior 220-yard free style title here. Two years ago the Indianapolis star finished third and Miss Perry fourth in the national senior 100-yard backstroke championship.

But last year the Cleveland ace was second and Miss Bemis fourth in the same event. The medley duel tonight between the two is expected to crack the record of 1:58.3 set by Patty Aspinall two years ago.

It may be Miss Perry's last competitive appearance here because she has been offered the physical education directorship at Radford school for girls, El Paso, Tex., and acceptance would end her amateur career.

Another event expected to produce torrid competition is the national junior men's 300-yard individual medley in which 13 mermen will battle.

Champs Expected To Bolster ABC Crowds

COLUMBUS, April 4.—American Bowling Congress ticket sellers today beamed over the prospect of a "well" this weekend after a month of slim crowds.

Several champions are in town and starting tonight the boys expect the cash registers to ring merrily. The average daily attendance has been 1,200, but near-capacity crowds of 2,500 are anticipated.

Ned Day of West Allis, Wis., national match game title holder, is the big drawing card, but there are several others.

Hank Marino of Milwaukee, who took the national match game crown home when he retired from that competition five years ago, will get attention; so will his fellow townsman, Charles Daw, one of the only three men ever to repeat for the doubles championship. Marino and Daw are two of the 10 in the bowlers' hall of fame.

Frank Benkovic of Cincinnati, co-holder of the all-time doubles high of 1,415 set nine years ago, also is counted on to up the gate.

Two teams of students from the Ohio State school for the blind turned in scores of 1,490 and 1,474 on a booster squad last night.

Perry Smith of New Lexington had games of 110, 152 and 138 for 400, while Eugene Brown of Springfield topped him by one pin on games of 149, 132 and 120.

Reds Start Rookie
BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Rookie Joe Abreu got his first starting assignment at second base for the Cincinnati Reds yesterday. Abreu, called to Florida from the Pacific coast to help relieve the Reds' infielder shortage, tagged two runners attempting to steal and worked the pitchers for three walks.

Indians Buy Bus Mills
SHREVEPORT, La.—The Cleveland Indians' search for a right-handed hitting outfielder was over today with the acquisition of Colonel (Bus) Mills from Kansas City. The Indians sent Outfielder Larry Rosenthal and cash to the New York Yankee farm.

Badminton Finals Tonight
DURHAM, N. C., April 4.—The men's singles finals of the sixth annual U. S. badminton championships tonight will pit topseeded Dave Freeman of Pasadena, Calif., seeking his fourth straight title, against Carl Loveday of Montclair, N. J.

Giants Meet Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—The New York Giants, back on the winning side in their barnstorming tour with Cleveland after snapping a four-game losing streak yesterday, part company with the Indians today when they take on Memphis of the Southern Association. Dave Koslo and Harry Feldman have been named to pitch for the Giants.

Bob Johnson "Hot"

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Bob Johnson's late start in spring training, caused by his holding out, apparently hasn't affected his power. The Philadelphia Athletics outfielder slammed a 400-foot homer with two on base to lead yesterday's victory over Pittsburgh and added a single for a perfect day in two official trips to the plate.

Feller Opens Season

NORFOLK, Va., April 4.—Bobby Feller Cleveland Indians pitching star, took the mound for the first time yesterday at the Norfolk naval training station and hurled the first three innings of a 13-1 victory over Richmond university. The ex-American leaguer fanned three, walked three and allowed one hit and Richmond's run.

HOGAN FAVORED IN CLASSIC; NELSON, SNEAD ALSO RATED

Perennial Return of Bobby Jones To Competition Features Event

ATLANTA, Ga., April 4.—With the United States Open championship packed away in moth balls for the duration of the war, the most coveted title of the golf caravan this year will be the Masters crown at Augusta.

The tourney, which marks the perennial return to competition of Bobby Jones, is scheduled over the rolling 6,700 yard Augusta National course April 9 to 12.

Although all the great names of golf are entered, Ben Hogan, the long driving little Texan; Byron Nelson, who won the Masters in 1937; and Sam Snead, the West Virginia hill-billy, are the men getting most pre-tourney backing.

280 Should Win

Hogan, as usual, holds a long lead in the Vardon trophy race and has pulled in more than $8,000 in prize money this year. Nelson is runner-up both in the trophy race and at the pay window. Snead has won around $5,000 and has been up around the top in almost every winter tournament.

The Masters is a comparatively young event—the first tournament being played in 1934 when Horton Smith won with a score of 284—but it already has become one of the most prized titles of the golf class.

With the exception of 1939, when Ralph Guldahl came roaring home with a 33 on the final nine to card a 279 and nose out Snead by one stroke for the title, a 72 hole total of 280 has been good enough to win.

Course Record 64

Craig Wood captured the Masters with a 280 last year when Nelson was second with 283. Jimmy Demaret's 280 was good for the crown in 1940 with the runner-up Lloyd Mangrum trailing four strokes back at 294.

Gene Sarazen won with a 282 in 1935 and Henry Picard's 285 was good enough to win in 1938.

An indication of just how tough the national course is may be seen in the fact that during eight years of the tournament some 1,600 rounds have been played but scarcely 47 cards have been below 70. Mangrum set the course record a couple of years ago with a sizzling 64 in the opening round.

Both professionals and amateurs who can qualify may play in the Masters but no amateur has yet come close to winning.

BIG U. S. BOMBERS BAG JAP WARSHIPS

Two Other Ships Believed Damaged In Bay of Bengal Raid

700 men—raising to 25 the number of American naval losses in the war. Thirty Japanese warships are known to have been sunk.

The aircraft tender Langley, one-time naval collier; the tanker Tecos and the destroyer Peary were sent to the bottom by virtually unopposed Japanese bombers in actions between Feb. 19 and March 1, it was disclosed in Washington.

Mandalay Bombed

Japanese fliers bomber storied Mandalay, which was first attacked Feb. 19, and two other towns in central Burma behind the British-Chinese lines, the British announced. A communiqué said a hospital was set afire, but declared there was no military damage at Mandalay and that aerial toll elsewhere was inconsequential.

Withdrawal of British covering forces on the Irrawaddy valley front to main defense positions north of Prome was said to have proceeded satisfactorily yesterday.

CITIZEN'S RIGHTS ARE GRANTED TO 17

Salem Man Denied Because Of Affiliation With Red Order

LISBON, April 4.—Seventeen foreign-born residents were admitted to citizenship by Judge Joel H. Sharp in naturalization court here Friday, three others were deferred, and another was denied because he was affiliated with the International Workers Order.

Emil Resatko of Salem, a Bohemian by birth, whose petition was continued one year ago pending further investigation, was again denied citizenship because of membership in the organization, which, it was charged, is a "front" for the Communist party.

Resatko denied knowledge of the constitution and by-laws of the organization, and contended his sole purpose in joining the organization was for social and insurance benefits. Judge Sharp, in ruling on the matter, directly attacked the organization's un-American activities as set forth in records, an official pamphlet of the organization, and other writings submitted in evidence by Sidney Rawitz, representative of the Pittsburgh department of the United States Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization.

While lauding the Russian armies for their battle against the Nazis, Judge Sharp stated: "We do not want aliens coming here and trying to overthrow our type of government, for their form of government, and I will not permit any person to become a citizen in this court where there is any affiliation with any un-American organization."

Att'y Jerome Land of Cleveland, counsel for Resatko, immediately indicated an appeal would be filed in the case.

Those to whom citizenship papers were granted include:
Salem—Edith Forbes, Anna Ospeck, Anna Kures, Norman Percival Lugett, Edward Walter Jensen, Anna Metz, Mrs. Gladys Hicks and Mrs. Sophia Kunewicz.

East Liverpool—Tillie Midler, Victoria May Williams, Elizabeth Jones, Ioweth A. P. Gully Jones, John Alfred Bowyer, Rachel Tobin and Fannie Ruben.

Joseph Domanski, Fairfield township, and Gertrude Anna Somerville, Cadiz.

ELECTRICAL "TOP" ANNOUNCED BY OPA

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 4.—Top prices were fixed today on all household electrical gadgets from the toaster in the kitchen to the curling iron on the dressing table.

While the Office of Price Administration set the price ceilings on 44 appliances at March 30 levels, effective next Tuesday, Leon Henderson, price administrator, was back in town from a vacation trip in time to study sweeping plans for the freezing of virtually all consumers' goods prices.

The electrical price ceiling covers manufacturers' and wholesalers' figures as well as retail prices, and will remain in force until June 5, unless superseded by a new schedule.

Rationing of the articles was not immediately contemplated, Acting Administrator John E. Hamm said, because there was a sufficient stock on hand or in manufacturing stages to meet demands for most of the year. The war production board already has ordered production to cease May 31 on a long list of electrical appliances, while vacuum cleaner manufacturing must stop April 30.

Hamm said the ceilings were fixed to "prevent runaway prices" in view of the WPB order.

As to a general price ceiling, the OPA has reached no conclusions, but the idea is to prevent general inflationary price movements.

U. S. ARRESTS CHIEF OF SILVER SHIRTS

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The justice department announced today the arrest at Darien, Conn., of William Dudley Pelley, leader of the Silver Shirts organization, on charges of seditious activities under the espionage act of 1917.

The department said Pelley, of Asheville, N. C., and Noblesville, Ind., was arrested on direct orders of Attorney General Biddle upon a warrant issued by a United States commissioner in Indianapolis. Pelley is to stand trial in Indianapolis.

The Silver Shirts chief was charged with violations of a statute which penalizes by imprisonment for not more than 20 years, by a fine of not more than $10,000, or both, disloyal acts or words in time of war.

The department said Pelley was editor of "The Galilean," a magazine published by the Friendship Press of Indianapolis "which suspended publication when recent issues were declared non-mailable" by the post office department.

Optimistic

INDIANAPOLIS—Dr. Dick Jordan, erstwhile Indianapolis dentist and chairman of the United States Appeal, returning from Europe today, said Gen. Douglas MacArthur was the most popular man in England today.

He added that the American military leader "seems to be a kind of symbol of the democratic action for which the English people are asking." He said the British were becoming impatient with their own leaders and demanding "offensive action."

Dr. Silver arrived on the Pan-American clipper. He said he spoke with officials "concerning organization of a Jewish army and the Jewish cause in Palestine," and expressed the hope that "there will soon be action on both matters."

West Point is celebrating its 140th anniversary this year.

YANKS AND ANZACS WORKING TOGETHER

MELBOURNE, April 4.—United States and Australian troops "are being welded together into one great army which will adopt an offensive, not a defensive, policy that will sweep to the sea any enemy daring to set foot on Australian soil," Army Minister Francis M. Forde declared today.

Following a visit to American encampments, Forde commented that the Americans "are like our own boys—very fine troops, of high physical standard."

"From their great leader down to the privates, they are men of whom any nation could feel justifiably proud."

"I believe they will successfully dovetail with our army and, in the words of General MacArthur, stand as blood brothers in the fight for democracy."

AMERICAN LEADER BRITISH FAVORITE

NEW YORK, April 4.—Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, Cleveland rabbi and chairman of the United Palestine Appeal, returning from Europe today, said Gen. Douglas MacArthur was the most popular man in England today.

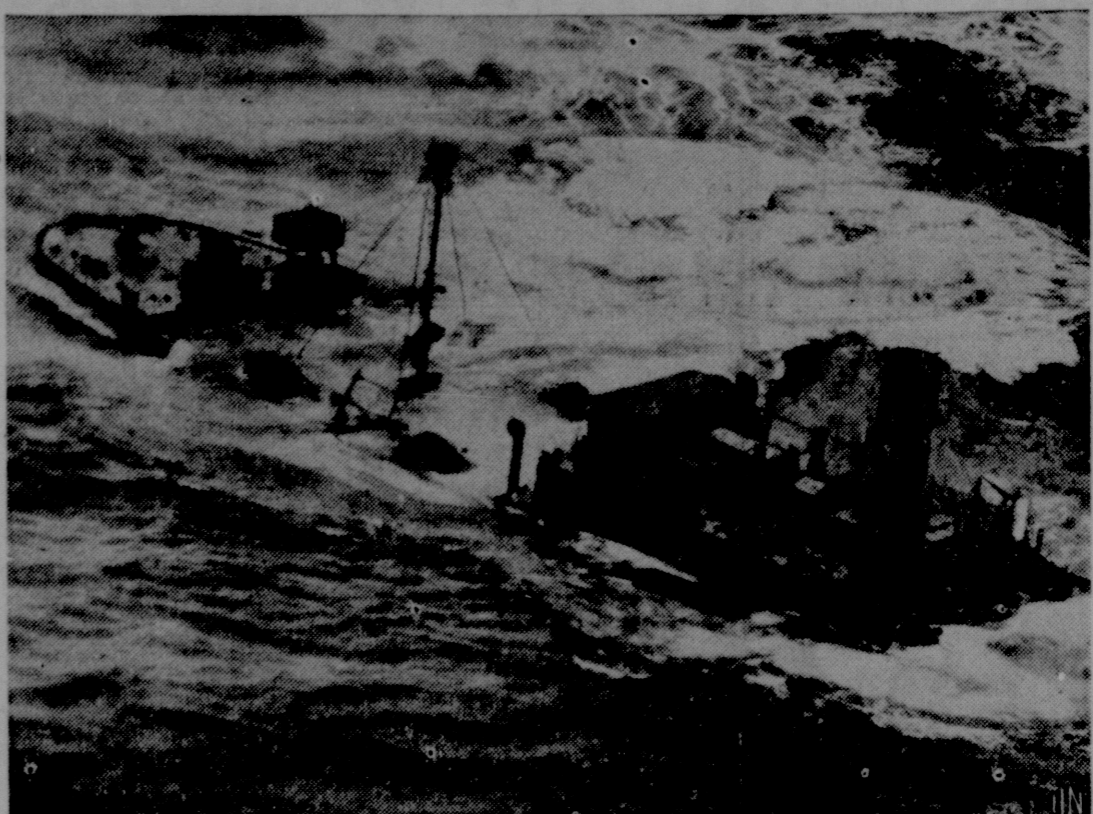

He added that the American military leader "seems to be a kind of symbol of the democratic action for which the English people are asking." He said the British were becoming impatient with their own leaders and demanding "offensive action."

Dr. Silver arrived on the Pan-American clipper. He said he spoke with officials "concerning organization of a Jewish army and the Jewish cause in Palestine," and expressed the hope that "there will soon be action on both matters."

Canadian Navy Rescues 38 from Wrecked Ship

Battered by mounting seas, an Allied merchant freighter lies grounded on the reefs off Sable Island, near Canada's coast. At the cost of one Navy man's life, thirty-eight seamen were rescued from the wreck. Before these photographs were taken from a R.C.A.F. patrol plane, the forward part of the ship broke away, carrying ten men to their death in the icy waters. Photo was taken before the rescue.
